

A Slice Of Cake

A social story for Kairav — trying new foods at parties and learning it's okay to say no

1

It is someone's birthday party. There is cake on the table.

2

The cake is new for me. I can look at it first.

3

I can touch the icing with my finger. It feels smooth and cool.

4

I can taste the finger. Sweet! The icing tastes good.

5

I can take one small bite or say no thank you. Both are okay choices.